Fire kills elderly woman

GRANITE CITY — An early morning fire at 2242 Adams St. took the life of a 76-year-old Granite City woman Wednesday and left her 42-year-old son hospitalized.

It was the fourth fire fatality in Granite City in the last 10 weeks.

Grace K. Sparks was killed in the fire, occurring at her residence just after 6 am Wednesday. Fire Chief Jerry Wallace said preliminary tests indicate she sustained extremely high carbon monoxide levels. An investigation has determined that an electrical light fixture in her son Jerry's bedroom was the source of the blaze.

Granite schools plan tax hike

By Bob Slate

GRANITE CITY — Community Unit School District 9 has proposed a backdoor-referendum approach to increase the tax rate limit for building operations and maintenance purposes from 37.5 cents on each $100 assessed valuation.

Building operations and maintenance represent about 10.5 percent of the total school district tax levy.

district tax levy.

Norman Owea, director of finance for the district, said the need for the increased building fund rate is brought about by rising liability insurance costs for buildings, boilers and machinery needed to run the buildings.

buildings.
Owca cited continuing build-ing maintenance as another reason for the proposed rate (See SCHOOLS, Page 6A)

Gas station burns

MADISON — An explosion and fire early this morning destroyed the Madison Citigo gas station at Madison Avenue and Sixth Street.

Witnesses reported an explosion followed by a large cloud or soin followed by a large cloud or building was completely engulfed in flames when firefighters arrived minutes later.

The fire was brought under control in about 30 minutes, but the building appeared to be a fire is under investigation.

Neither the fire nor explosion involved the underground gaso-line storage tanks. The station belongs to Jerry Maeras of Mad-

The station was not open at the time of the fire and was apparently unoccupied.

Fearing the possibility of fur-ther explosions, police blocked-off the surrounding area includ-ing Madison Avenue from Fifth to Eighth streets.

Firefighters were still on the scene at press time.

GRANITE CITY — The City Council passed a $2,757,332 tax levy Tuesday night, after failing to pass a $3,377,652 levy Nov. 27.
Despite projected operating

Gag order rescinded by judge

BELLEVILLE — A judge on riday rescinded a gag order rohibiting the Suburban Jourgls from publishing information rom a court-ordered psychologial exam of murder suspect imothy Hayden.

Main St.
St. Ciair County Associate
Judge James M. Radeliffe III had issued an order on Monday prohibiting the publication of any information contained in a psychological evaluation that psychologist Daniel Cuneo performed on Hayden. Radeliffe issued the order after learning that a Journal reporter had obtained a copy of the report.

However, Radcliffe lifted the order at a hearing Friday. An attorney for the Suburban Journals had filled a motion Thursday "I cannot find at this point ... that the publication of an article based upon information in this report would prevent a fair trial in this case, and even if I could than the gag order). Taddelffe said Friday. "And I am not going to ban the publication of the information in the report." Belleville Journal Managing Editor Scott Queen said he was glad that the order was lifted, but said it never should have been issued at all.

"Obviously, we're very happy with the decision," he said. "This should have been published Wednesday, though A gag order is a last-resort tool of a judge, and Judge Radcliffe used it liest. According to Hermeling's motion to quash the order, the Illinois Supreme Court and United States Supreme Court have created a three-part test that must be met before a gag order.

'The order must set forth specific factual findings supported by evidence; the findings must pose a clear and present danger or a serious and imminent threat to the fairness and integrity of the trial; and there must be no other alternatives available to solve the problem.'

Alternatives, include moving

Alternatives, include moving the trial to another venue, sequestering or instructing the jury; and more careful selection of the jury, she said.

Radcliffe said Cuneo's report is protected under doctor-client privilege, and would not become part of the public record unless parties in the case refer to it during the trial.

"My obligation as of Monday was to assure that the defendant in this case ultimately got a fair trial," he said. "And if I had to bruise the First Amendment for a few days in order to do that, I was willing to do that. I didn't do it lightly."

Both interim State's Attorney Scott Mansfield and Hayden's attorney, James Gomric, said they would have liked the gag order to stand.

"I personally don't want this thing printed," Mansfield said at Friday's hearing.

'I think it will impair the state's ability to give Mr. Hay-den a fair trial, and I think that it will contribute to Mr. Gomic's motion for change of venue. (Gomric filed the motion for change of venue on Thursday.) This is going to impair this court ... in its ability to pick a jury that has not been influenced by this article.

Also at Thursday's hearing, Radcliffe scheduled Hayden's tri-al to begin on Monday, Jan. 7 than what I expected it to be,"

he said.

"No one wants to be in the desert, and no one wants to eat meals ready-to-eat out of the package, but our men and wom."

Costello's conclusion after the trip is that economic sanctions should be given more time to work before the troops are asked to fight.

"I am adamantly opposed to going on the offensive and going into combat without exploring and exhausting every available option, including sanctions," Costello said.

Costello said.
"Everyone that I spoke to said the sanctions are working but that it would take some time."
Asked how long the government should wait. Costello said, "As long as it takes to succeed

"A lot of them said, 'Look, if we have to go into combat, then let's go in full speed with every bit of military with the said, ''And he said, '''And he said, '''' and let the said with and let the sanctions work, give us a date when we can tell our relatives that we're going home.' " Costello said he plans on Thursday to discuss conditions and troop morale in the Persian Gulf, discuss his positions on the matter, and answer any ques-tions family members might have

It was my privilege this fall to witness the tremendous drive, integrity and commitment demonstrated by the hundreds of volunters and contributors who supported the 1990 Tri-Citles Area United Way campaign. Never before have I observed such dedication for a single cause—a most important and fundamental cause—people to help themselves—people to help themselves...

The challenge of reaching a *1,015,000 goal was very ambitious for a community the size of the Tri-Cities area. Many viewed this goal as a dream rather than a possibility. But the needs within the community dictated that we must be people of vision and ambition. Our community didn't falter as it responded to the challenge. What an impressive accomplishment, and what an honor to have worked with the many individuals whose efforts made this dream a reality.

On behalf of the many thousands of people whose lives will be made a little brighter because of the United Way system of caring, I would like to extend my sincerest appreciation to all who had a hand in this monumental effort. I would also like to thank the United Way Board of Directors for the opportunity to be part of such a dynamic team. It was a most challenging and rewarding experience that I will not soon forget.

John E. Lee III 1990 Campaign Chairman Tri-Cities Area United Way

Howard Lathrop, Gary Borgens and Mervin Lathrop and Son, Kenny, have returned home after a week's hunting trip near Ozark in southern Illinois. The hunters bagged two deer.

Hair, hair, the gang's all here

Teen-age guys and gals have gone in opposite directions as far as how they wear their hair. What was once long is now short, and what was once short is now long. Guys prefer their hair short — some with geometric lines shaved into the sides. Gals, on the other hand, want their hair to be as big and long as possible. Here's some samples of "the look" in hairstyles today. Our thanks to Fast Freddy's and New Creations hairsalpen in Grapitic City for their passible today. Pontoon failed homework

Two times recently, Pontoon Beach trustees showed major flaws in their ability to administer government. Both came during a meeting last week to approve a new tax levy.

In the first major mistake, trustees advertised that they were planning to levy $115,120 for general fund property taxes in the 1990-91 fiscal year. This would have been a major change from previous years when no property tax was levied for the general fund.

However, after it was pointed out by a sharp-eyed resident that the board had repeated several line items within its budget, trustees recalculated and discovered that they did not need to levy any property taxes for the general fund after all. In fact, they came up with a surplus from the previous year.

not need to levy any property taxes for the general fund after all. In fact, they came up with a surplus from the previous year.

There is no excuse for such poor fiscal practice. Village government, no matter how inexperienced at budgeting, still has responsibility to the taxpayers it serves. Pontoon Beach trustees should have a couple of experts look at the way they calculate things to make sure they've got their numbers straight before asking anything of taxpayers.

In the second incident in question, occurring during the same special meeting last Thursday, Pontoon trustees voted 4.2 to extend their agenda and talk about several other issues. Such non-unanimous action is not allowed under village ordinances. The Illinois Open Meetings Act also states that public notice of any special meeting, Pontoon Beach published a meeting notice, but said nothing about talking about anything other than the tax levy. The other issues were not remotely considered to the second and the same of the second in the second provided against amending the agenda to discuss other matters. To our dismay, Lou Whitsell, Robert levels and Loren Madison did not. Village administration approval by all trustees to amend the agenda in a special meeting, and that would appear to be a simple enough rule to prove that the meeting should have concluded at that point. But discussion continued anyway.

The village attorney has been asked to render an opinion on whether action taken outside of the tax levy topic should be voided. He should say yes. Any other response would be a breach of trust between board and constituents.

Arena idea backward step

We have-voiced hearty praise for the way St. Louis, St. Louis County and Missouri leaders developed the successful plan to build a 70,000-seat domed stadium as part of the growing Cervantes Convention Center.

Unfortunately, an unrelated plan for an 18,000-seat down-town arena doesn't qualify for praise and we doubt that it will be launched prior to a Dec. 31 tax-break deadline.

Announced hurriedly after secret planning, much of it borrowed from an earlier plan, the new arena sounds annovative; it would leave kiel Opera House intact and replace 12,000-seat Kiel Auditorium. But the 18,000-seat Arena on Oakland Avenue would be razed, with the hope of deeloping a retail center there.

Nation possed indoor facility at Kiel is too small to attract a Nation possible to adequately schedule ice hockey, soccer, universe possible to adequately schedule ice show, circust rodeo and besterball, concert, wrestling, ice show, circust rodeo and besterball concert, wrestling, ice show, circust rodeo and bester nograms that the public desires to patronize. There just are incough prime days, or any other kinds of days, in the year.

Another not-so-minor matter is the lack of sufficient parking spaces in the current proposal. A new parking study released this week underscores and intestifies this concern.

We think it's time to go back to the drawing boards and come up with a better approach.

All the news unfit to print

If I had collected every dumb thing I've seen in print, I would already have a textbook full of "what-not-to-dos' for the next several generations of journalists.

Case in point would be a few of the following sentences that I've called from reporter copy and submitted press releases during just the last several weeks. Bard to believe we could write some of this stuff, but under the heat of deadline even the most unbelievable gaffes become possible.

These examples were caught before they were printed by an astute copy editor. Or should I say caught by an astute copy editor before they were printed. A subtle difference, but misplaced phrasing means everything, as you'll see.

What better place to find these gems than in the heart of a newspaper, the symbol of truth, justice and the American way?

For example:
"For his speech he chose a location in the lobby among two judges and the late Congressman Mel Price."

"City officials blasted vandals who spray-painted the car of alder-nic attorney Rick Sturgeon during a council meeting Wednesday d slashed all four of his tires."

"Bonnie said she hopes to work again with her new co-author because it was such a sharing process even though both worked independently."

"This is the first literary effort by Robby, 7, a first-grader at Claymont Elementary School."

(This headline almost appeared) "Rap session today at Our Lady

Following a poorly attended rally for state Democratic candidates, Alton Alderman Ed Voumard Sr. blamed the fact that the rally was held on Sinday. Noted Voumard: "I guess people wanted to enjoy the day."

 And then there's the case of overstanting the obvious: "A longtime dream came true for 86-year-old Robert E. Baker when his children took him to Hyde Park, N.Y., to place's ed roses on the grave of former President of the United States, the late Franklin Delano Roosevelt."

Sometimes sentences just don't deserve to be: "There were no injuries reported this past week due to accidents on county roads."

And sometimes sentences don't quite say it right: "The man reportedly told the police officers who had stabbed him and then collapsed, unconscious, to the sidewalk." 444

Then there are the sentences that prompt second thoughts. "The lesson was given by Rev. Vernon Brown concerning 'How' Alcohol Affects the Brain.' Refreshments were served by the hostess."

Happy New Year! Cencom to hike monthly rates by $2.50

GRANITE CITY — Cable TV subscribers may not find Jan. 1 to be a very happy day-this year. Cencom Cable has announced that its basic service rate will be increased 782.50 to the major of the company, including Granite City, Collinsville, Edwardsville, Maryville, Troy and Highland.

land.

The current rate of $17.95 for. basic cable television service will jump to $20.45. Senior citizens will continue to receive a discount of $2 off the regular monthly rate.

But cable viewers may eventually see some reflef. The steady where is prompting new efforts at "re-regulation" of cable.

Brian Kennedy, a spokesman

Brian Kennedy, a spokesman Sen. Paul Simon's (D-Illinois) brian actions in Sen. Paul Simon's (D-Illinois) Washington, D.C., office, said complaints are coming into his office from throughout the nation about the soaring prices of cable subscriptions.

And an aide to Sen. John Dan-forth, R-Missouri, said a bill is in the works to re-regulate the cable industry. Danforth is the highest ranking member of the Commerce Committee, which deals with the communication industry.

We complete the communication industry.

We complete the communication industry.

We complete the communication industry in the St. Louis and Jefferson City, Mo., areas. People are telling us they are fed up with terrible cable service, poor reception and sakyrocketing.

Danforth introduced a bill in November 1988 to reinstitute some public control over the cable industry.

"The bill would have returned some public authority over such the cable industry.

"The bill would have returned some public authority over such the cable industry.

The bill would have established some minimum standards and, hopefully, spurred some competition, said the nide, who asked that her name not be used.

The bill before the end of the congressional session, but the aide said Danforth has given the bill top priority for early January.

Since Cencom's purchase of the local cable system from Saugust 1986, cable rates have steadily increased.

The basic cable rate in December 1986 was $9.45. The first rate hike imposed on the latest and latest and latest and latest and latest and

In a little over four years, the basic rate has more than doubled any say the rate increases are due in large part to the deregulation of the cable industry in 1984.

Dave Miller, Cencom's system manager, in a written statement said increased operating costs were merely being passed on to One of the reasons Miller size.

series being passed on to consumers.

One of the reasons Miller cited was the "recent inflationary pressure driven by increased oil prices on the cost of fuel for "Our customers have told us they want responsive customer and repair service, convenient hours of service at accessible locations, prompt telephone and better signal reliability. Cencom has listened and made many positive changes," Miller said. Wen though the basic rate will increase Miller said other services will remain unchanged. Cencom will continue to provide free repair service and maintain lifetime warranties on all installed equipment, he said.

Venice approves tax levy

VENICE — A 1990 tax levy of $54,480 was unanimously approved by the City Council on Tuesday.

"Nobody can stop Erwin one on one." said Venice coach Clinton Harris. "He carried us early in the game offensively and Ivan (Johnson) was our man on the boards. Erwin will probably see just about every defense there is before the year's over, but I guarantee that if teams try to grant the starters will hurt them." Johnson added 19 points, right on his season average. No one

Warriors try to open SWC slate on right foot at East

All the trouble the Warrior basketball team had in South-western Conference play over the last three years might become only a distant memory. A new chapter opens Friday night.

Granite City lost 22 stræight league games in just over two seasons before breaking the skid last year. Now the Warriors have their sights set on finishing as high as second place in 1991.

After splitting their first two non-conference games, the War-tors open SWC play with an a p.m. game Friday at Belleville East.

Offer ideas for youth groups

GRANITE CITY — Planning activities for youth groups is a task for which helpful ideas are being offered by the Granite City Public Library.

Group Books is a publisher which takes seriously the challenge of finding interesting and excifing activities for youth groups.

A sampling of its books has recently been added to the collection of the Granite City Public Library. District, based at A small four volume set entitled Instant Programs for Youth Groups contains meeting plans on such topics as "living as a Christian," "emotions, "dating and sex," and "me and school." Other titles available include Boredom Busters, Quick Crowdbreakers and Games, Junior High Retreats and Lock-ins, and Group's Best Junior High Meetings (two volumes).

Although these books have a religious theme, many of the activities are appropriate for any youth group. Another tool for the group leader of workshops, courses, conferences and training programs is The Encyclopedia of Icebreakers.

'Holiday Tales' on Saturday

"Holiday Tales," a "wondrous and musical journey through three cultures," will be performed at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 8, in the Communications Building theater of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

The holiday event, performed by the Imaginary Theater of the Repertory Theater of St. Louis and sponsored by Friends of Theater and Dance as a benefit to fund scholarships at SIUE, is designed to delight the entire family, according to Kim A. Bozark, director of touring and education for the theater company.

The 50-minute production includes three tales — from Kwan-zaa, a joyous holiday celebration of African-American heritage; from ancient Israel, a story of an innocent cobbler who outwits a deceifful demon; and a scene from Charles Dickens' "A Christ-mas Carol," says Bozark, who also adapted the tales for this mas carol, says Bozark, who also adapted the tarcs for one production. "Intertwined with the vignettes is favorite holiday music," she said. "This show will be fun for the family, even children at the kindergarten level." Tickets are $5; children, senior citizens, and patrons affiliated with SIUE pay $3.50.

Before and after the Dec. 8 performance, Santa Claus will be available in the lobby for consultation and photographs with children.
